Totoaba (Totoaba macdonaldi)

RENEWED AND UPDATED DECISIONS FOR COP19

1. This document has been submitted by the United States of America.*

Introduction

2. The totoaba (Totoaba macdonaldi) is a large, marine finfish endemic to the northern part of the Gulf of California (Sea of Cortez) in Mexico. Mexico declared the totoaba as a protected species in 1975, and the United States classified the species as endangered under the U.S. Endangered Species Act (ESA) in 1979. The vaquita is a small cetacean endemic to the northern part of the Gulf of California in Mexico, whose range overlaps with that of the totoaba and is often killed inadvertently in illegal gillnets set for harvesting totoaba. It is considered the world’s most endangered cetacean. Mexico has listed the species as “in danger of extinction” under its domestic wildlife law. Both the totoaba and vaquita are included in CITES Appendix I. Despite international protections and Mexico’s domestic ban on totoaba fishing, the illegal harvest of and international trade in totoaba continues due to ongoing demand in East Asia for totoaba swim bladders, which are consumed in soup, used in traditional medicinal practices, given as gifts, and held as investments.

3. According to experts, there are only an estimated 10 individual vaquitas remaining in the world. While that does not bode well for recovery, a recently published genetic analysis from the University of California, Los Angeles, concluded that if bycatch mortality is eliminated from their habitat range (i.e., by eliminating illegal gillnet fishing for totoaba), the species can still be saved from extinction. This is due to a naturally low population size and approximately 1000 years of stable genomic diversity. Genetic comparisons with other cetacean species demonstrated that the vaquita have fewer strongly deleterious mutations and are better positioned to withstand future inbreeding. For this reason it is imperative to take all possible steps to ensure that illegal fishing and trafficking of totoaba is halted.¹

Background

4. At the 17th meeting of the Conference of the Parties (CoP17; Johannesburg, 2016), the Government of Mexico submitted Document CoP17 Doc. 74 in which it reported that illegal harvest and trade of totoaba continued despite its domestic ban on totoaba fishing and requested support from CITES to combat this illegal trade. Consequently, the Conference of the Parties adopted Decisions 17.145-17.151 on Totoaba (Totoaba macdonaldi). An update on implementation of these Decisions was provided in Document CoP18 Doc. 89 (Rev. 1), along with draft decisions aimed at ensuring a stronger, measurable and time-bound mandate representative of the Convention’s priorities in matters related to the long-term survival of totoaba and vaquita. Following debate and amendment at CoP18, the Conference of the Parties adopted new, strengthened Decisions 18.292-18.295.

5. Updates on Mexico’s progress toward implementation of Decisions 18.292-18.295 were provided to the Standing Committee by the Secretariat in November 2020 via Document SC2020 Inf. 14 (SC2020 Inf. 14) and to the 74th meeting of the Standing Committee (SC74; Lyon, 2022) in Document SC74 Doc. 28.5.

6. In Document SC2020 Inf. 14, paragraph 10, following a review of reports submitted by Mexico in accordance with Decision 18.293, the Secretariat stated:

   From the reporting provided by Mexico, it is evident that, from 1 September 2019 to date, surveillance activities and inspections with a particular focus on the vaquita (Phocoena sinus) refuge area have significantly increased compared to the period January-August 2019. However, from the information provided by Mexico in its November 2019 and April 2020 reports, the Secretariat concluded that the actions of the authorities were lenient and non-deterrent, and that activities of illegal fishers seemed to continue with impunity. The Secretariat communicated this to Mexico, encouraging the Party to review and strengthen its responses to the illegal fishery activities.

7. Annex 1 to Document SC74 Doc. 28.5 included a detailed “Summary and assessment of Mexico’s reporting.” Mexico’s reporting was contained in Annexes 2 and 3 to Document SC74 Doc. 28.5. Five additional Annexes were posted, including the Outcomes of the October 2021 Meeting of range, transit and consumer States of totoaba and Responses from the United States of America and Mexico to Notification to the Parties No. 2019/061. In Document SC74 Doc. 28.5, the Secretariat acknowledged that Mexico has not effectively implemented the directives in Decision 18.293, stating in paragraph 34:

   [The] Secretariat continues to conclude that the provisions of Decision 18.293, subparagraph a) i) to effectively prevent fishers and vessels from entering the vaquita refuge area have not been implemented.

In paragraph 53 of Document SC74 Doc. 28.5, the Secretariat provided specific recommendations on the way forward.

8. Following discussion over whether compliance measures should be taken at SC74 based on the conclusions in Document SC2020 Inf.14 and Document SC74 Doc. 28.5 regarding the lack of effective implementation of Decision 18.293, the Standing Committee deferred the decision to be further assessed at SC75. The Standing Committee also adopted the draft decisions proposed by the Secretariat, and additionally, requested the Secretariat to undertake a second mission to Mexico before SC75 to evaluate progress on the implementation of Decision 18.293, with a particular focus on the areas of concern identified in Document SC74 Doc. 28.5. The Standing Committee also invited the Secretariat to propose to CoP19 revisions to Decisions 18.292 to 18.295 after its second mission to Mexico, taking into consideration the 30 April 2022 report by Mexico, and in consultation with the Standing Committee through its Chair. (See SC74 Sum. 4 (Rev. 1); SC74 Draft SR – pp. 57-59).

Discussion

9. Acknowledging the effort invested and the resources deployed by Mexico to address illegal fishing and trafficking of totoaba, these actions have been neither sufficient nor effective as illegal fishing and trade continues unabated while the nearly extinct vaquita continue to drown in illegal gillnets targeting totoaba.

10. The Standing Committee at SC74 recognized the need to update and renew Decisions 18.292 to 18.295, to continue to take action toward preventing the ongoing illegal harvest and trade of Appendix-I listed totoaba, and the concurrent decline of the critically endangered vaquita.

11. The United States shares the Secretariat’s conclusion that urgent progress on implementation is needed. In order to prevent the ongoing illegal take and trade in totoaba and associated harm to vaquita, we believe immediate effective action is needed by Mexico. Specifically, Mexico must: apply a zero-tolerance policy for fishers and vessels entering the Zero Tolerance Area; enhance monitoring of fishing vessels and the gear they employ; and take strict action against any individuals engaged in unauthorized activities to effectively prevent and deter illegal harvest and trade of totoaba. Effective implementation is also needed of the Agreement regulating gear, systems, methods, techniques and schedules for carrying out fishing activities with smaller and larger vessels in Mexican Marine Zones in the Northern Gulf of California and establishment of landing sites as well as monitoring systems for such vessels, as noted in the concluding paragraph of Document SC2020 Inf. 14.

12. To achieve this result, we believe that the CoP18 Decisions on totoaba should be renewed and updated to reflect the recommendations from the Secretariat's report to SC74 (paragraph 53) and outcomes of that meeting. We also believe that the updated Decisions should take into consideration relevant outcomes from the Secretariat's assessment mission to Mexico) as well as the outcomes of the online Meeting of Range, Transit and Consumer States of Totoaba held in October 2021.

13. While the Standing Committee invited the Secretariat to propose to CoP19 revisions to Decisions 18.292 to 18.295, those proposed revisions have not been made available in advance of the deadline for submission of documents to CoP19. To assist in the development of those revised Decisions, the United States has prepared proposed updates to Decisions 18.292-18.295, which are presented in Annex 1 to the present document. Our proposed amendments align with the suite of actions recommended by the Secretariat in Document SC74 Doc. 28.5 Paragraph 53 a) ii)-vii) and the outcomes of the Standing Committee at SC74 as well as additional recommendations from the United States at SC74. (see Document SC74 Sum. 4 (Rev. 1).

14. We also note the draft decisions recommended by SC74, which would direct the Secretariat to update the Terms of Reference to the proposed totoaba/vaquita study. It is our view that any such study would benefit from inclusion of an analysis of what impacts legal commercial trade in captive-bred totoaba from the newly registered operation included in the Register of operations that breed Appendix-I animal species in captivity for commercial purposes will have on the wild totoaba population. Additionally, we recommend including a review of demand-reduction strategies, building on the guidance provided in Resolution Conf. 17.4 on Demand reduction strategies to combat illegal trade in CITES-listed species, and the draft CITES guidance on demand reduction strategies to combat illegal trade in CITES-listed species presented in Annex 3 to Document SC74 Doc. 34.

Recommendations

15. The Conference of the Parties is invited to adopt the renewed and updated Decisions 18.292-18.295 on Totoaba (Totoaba macdonaldi) included in Annex 1 to the present document, which reflect the amendments outlined in paragraph 13 above. A clean version of the Decisions is included in Annex 2 to the present document for ease of reference.
