(PASSERIFORMES SPP.)

1. This document has been submitted by the Animals Committee*.
2. At its 18th meeting (CoP18, Geneva, 2019), the Conference of the Parties adopted Decisions 18.256 to 18.259 on Songbird trade and conservation management (Passeriformes spp.) as follows:

The responsibility for the contents of the document rests exclusively with its author.*

Directed to the Standing Committee

18.258 The Standing Committee shall consider the recommendations by the Animals Committee and make its own recommendations to the 19th meeting of the Conference of the Parties.

Directed to Parties, nongovernmental organizations, commercial traders, and donors

18.259 Parties and non-Parties, intergovernmental organizations, non-governmental organizations, commercial traders and donors are encouraged to provide funding to the Secretariat for the implementation of these Decisions.

3. In document AC31 Doc. 30 and its addendum, the Secretariat reported that it had initiated discussions with technical experts to develop draft terms of reference for the study referred to in Decision 18.256, paragraph a), and the preparation of background documents outlined in paragraph b), for consideration at the technical workshop proposed in paragraph c) of the same Decision.
4. As indicated in Notification to the Parties No. 2020/032, it was estimated that implementation of Decision 18.256 would cost USD 50,000 for the study, and USD 100,000 for the technical workshop. At the 31st meeting of the Animals Committee (AC31, online, June 2021), the Secretariat reported that Decision 18.256 could not be implemented due to lack of external funding. During the meeting, the United States of America announced that it will provide USD 25,000 for a study of the songbird trade in the western hemisphere, particularly focusing on Latin American and the Caribbean.
5. In document AC31 Doc. 30, the Secretariat noted that the non-governmental organization Species360 and the University of Southern Denmark were currently leading a review of songbirds that could make a valuable contribution to the proposed study and workshop referred to in Decision 18.256. Under the Species Knowledge Index Initiative, available information has been collated concerning songbird species that are:
  - a) listed on CITES,
  - b) included in the Appendices of the Convention on the Conservation of Migratory Species (CMS),
  - c) assessed under the Red List of Threatened Species of the International Union for Nature Conservation (IUCN),
  - d) considered vulnerable to climate change by the IUCN Climate Change Specialist Group,
  - e) listed by the Alliance for Zero Extinction,
  - f) considered distinct in evolutionary terms, as assessed by the Zoological Society of London (ZSL), and/or
  - g) have ex situ populations in zoos and aquariums which are members of Species360.
6. The information was made available to the Animals Committee as information documents AC31 Inf. 11 and AC31 Inf. 12 (both available in English only) and contained the following components:
  - Species Knowledge Initiative to Support CITES Decisions and Recommendations for Songbirds (Species360).
  - Juergens et al. 2021 (paper submitted to Data in Brief). A standardized dataset for conservation prioritization of songbirds to support CITES.
  - Supplementary Files (open data): File S1 (data on Passeriformes and the Songbirds in Trade Database); File S2 (Metadata, including data explanation of all variables); File S3 (taxonomic synonyms for Songbirds).
7. In the addendum to document AC31 Doc. 30, the Secretariat also highlighted that BirdLife, TRAFFIC, the International Union for Conservation of Nature, the United Nations Environment Programme-World Conservation Monitoring Centre and the University of Cambridge are currently undertaking a Quantitative Review of Global Trade in Wild Birds. As well as providing an overview of trade, it is hoped that this study will be relevant to a number of CITES Decisions, in particular those on songbirds and West African vultures.

8. Given the lack of external funding for the implementation of Decision 18.256 at the time of AC31, the Animals Committee was not able to review results of the planned study and workshop on trade in songbirds or make recommendations to the Standing Committee as envisaged. However, the Committee agreed to propose the renewal of Decisions 18.256 to 18.259 on Songbird trade and conservation management (Passeriformes spp.) to the present meeting.

Recommendations

9. The Conference of the Parties is invited to renew Decisions 18.256 to 18.259 on Songbird trade and conservation management (Passeriformes spp.) as presented in Annex 1.
