Standing Committee

REPORT OF THE CHAIR

1. This document has been submitted by the Chair of the Standing Committee.*

Background

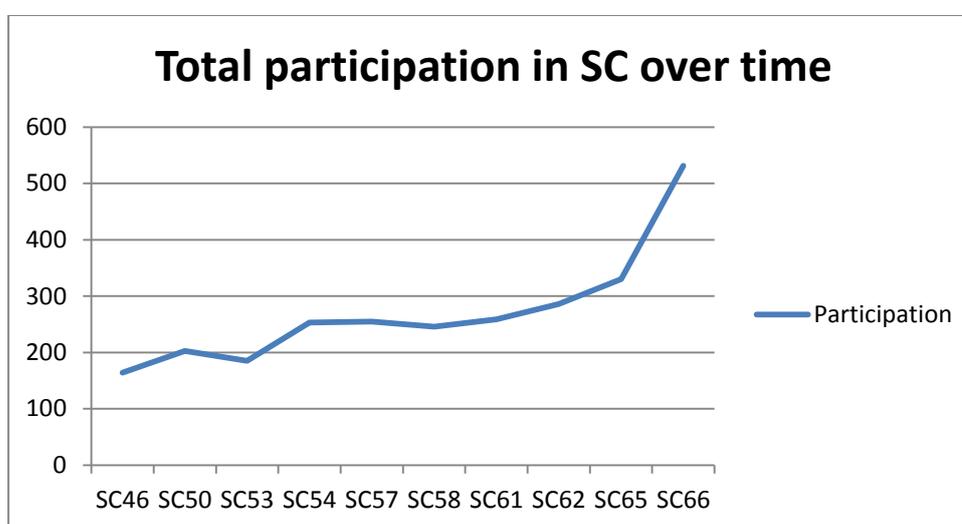

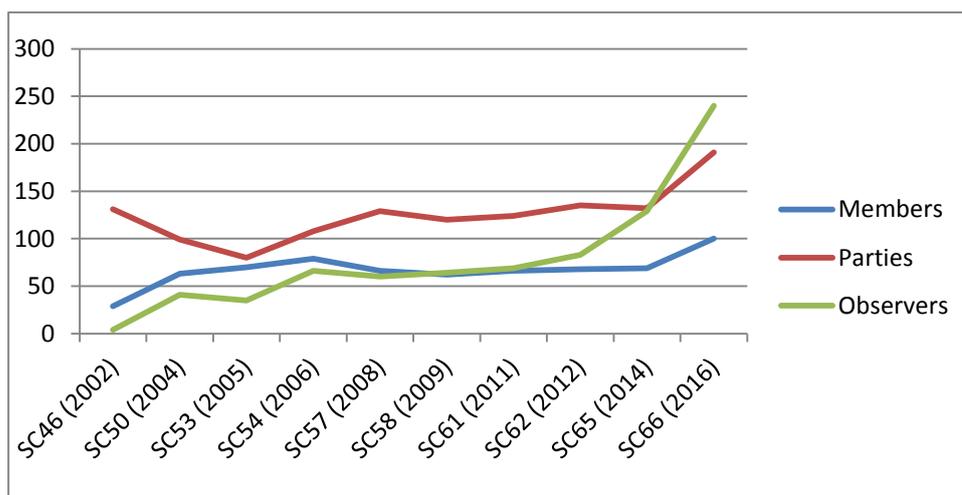

2. Norway was elected as Chair by the members of the Standing Committee at its 60th meeting (Doha, March 2010), following the 15th meeting of the Conference of the Parties (Doha, 2010). The United States of America was at the same meeting elected to serve as Vice-Chair and Kuwait as Alternate Vice-Chair. These Parties continued to fill the posts concerned during the intersessional period between the 16th meeting of the Conference of the Parties (CoP16, Bangkok, 2013) and the present meeting.

Work undertaken between CoP16 and CoP17

3. The Committee has held three meetings since CoP16: the 64th meeting (SC64) was held in March 2013 in Bangkok, immediately after CoP16. The 65th (SC65) and 66th (SC66) meetings were held in Geneva, Switzerland in July 2014 and SC66 in January 2016 respectively. The 67th meeting (SC67) is scheduled to take place in Johannesburg on 23 September 2016, immediately prior to the present meeting.
4. The Standing Committee meetings since CoP16 have been characterized by an unprecedented volume of work for the Committee and equally by record participation at Committee meetings by members and observers from Parties and organizations.
5. Concerning participation at meetings of the Standing Committee, SC65 attracted 330 participants: 69 from Committee members, 132 from 50 Parties observers and 129 from 63 observer organizations. SC66 drew no less than 531 participants: 100 from Committee members, 191 from 66 Party observers and 240 from 97 observer organizations. The attendance at SC66 is the largest ever at a CITES Standing Committee meeting and is almost double the number of people who attended the equivalent meeting between CoP15 and CoP16. The increase in participation is shown graphically in Figure 1, which is extracted from document CoP17 Doc. 7.1.

6. In addition to the instructions to the Committee in 23 Resolutions of the Conference of the Parties, CoP16 also directed 41 Decisions to the Standing Committee for action. This generated a very substantial volume of documentation for the Committee to discuss: at SC65 this amounted to 1311 pages in 70 working documents and annexes and at SC66, 2672 pages in 96 working documents and annexes.
7. A brief summary of the Committee's discharge of all the instructions from the Conference of the Parties is found in Annex 1 to the present document. For 24 of the most substantive issues, the committee has submitted a working document for the present meeting.
8. In addition to those activities deriving from an instruction from the Conference of the Parties, the Committee also engaged in discussions on some issues under its own initiative.
9. Although Decision 15.18 was deleted at CoP15, under a working group chaired by Canada, the Committee continued to review the possibilities for future cooperation with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO). The Committee instructed the Secretariat to continue liaising with FAO on the basis of the draft Memorandum for Cooperation found in the Annex to document SC66 Doc. 16.3.
10. At SC65, following a request from the Animals Committee, the Standing Committee established a working group on sharks chaired by Colombia to consider relevant matters relating to the implementation of shark listings. At SC66, the Standing Committee requested the Secretariat, in collaboration with the Chair of the Animals Committee, to prepare draft decisions for consideration by the present meeting, directing the Standing Committee to complete the work directed to it by the Animals Committee in the recommendations in document SC66 Doc. 53.1. These draft decisions can be found in document CoP17 Doc. 56.1.
11. Upon a suggestion by the Secretariat, the Committee established a working group chaired by Botswana, to identify, compile and formulate ideas on how best to celebrate future celebrations of World Wildlife Day, as well as to advise on how best to obtain adequate financial support and the necessary human resources to organize them. The Committee subsequently conveyed its advice on this matter to the Secretariat.

12. At SC66, the Committee considered and agreed to a proposal to amend Resolution Conf. 12.3 (Rev. CoP16) on Permits and certificates to add the following new section to the text of the Resolution:

XVI. Regarding permits and certificates issued under court orders

RECOMMENDS that:

- i) Exporting Parties should not proceed with any export of specimens of any CITES-listed species without evidence of legal origin of specimens of the species, and for species listed in Appendix I or II, without evidence of a non-detriment finding.
- ii) Upon receiving credible information or intelligence, importing countries should reject shipments of specimens of species accompanied by export permits issued under court order without the required CITES findings. The importing Party should contact the exporting Party to seek confirmation that a non-detriment finding by the Scientific Authority and a legal acquisition finding by the Management Authority were made.
- iii) Upon receiving credible information or intelligence, the Secretariat should contact the importing and exporting Parties involved in the potential trade of specimens accompanied by court ordered permits and inform them of the relevant provisions of the Convention.

Reflections of the Chair

13. CITES has continued to develop with astonishing speed over the last intersessional period. This is reflecting the need for quick responses to alarming levels of illegal trade in wildlife. The initiation and execution of the National Ivory Action Plans (NIAPs) for an increasing number of Parties is one such example of a milestone initiative, cf Resolution 10.10 (rev. CoP16) and CoP17 Doc. 24 and 57.1. Importantly many more Parties have through work on NIAPs become aware that CITES requires strict national regulations to be able to comply with the intent of the text of the Convention. Another milestone for CITES has been the GEF 6 programming and the Global Partnership on Wildlife Conservation and Crime Prevention for Sustainable Development (cf. GEF Global Wildlife Program) as described in CoP17 Doc. 7.5. Sharks have been in focus for many years and continue to pose challenges on NDFs and trade controls. Increased focus on the trade in tropical hardwoods is also likely to become much in focus as these species and their role in the ecosystems are increasingly under pressure. A number of listing proposals for CoP17 document this.

Concluding remarks

14. As Chair of the Standing Committee for the last two intersessional periods I am grateful to all those who have contributed, both members of the SC, AC and PC, the Secretariat, working groups, consultants and observers, and close collaboration with our partners in different MEAs and UN agencies without whom we could not have been able to conclude so successfully.
15. During the last intersessional period the number of issues at hand has been unprecedented, as has the interest in CITES. Let me highlight a few of those who deserve honour for their outstanding work: Firstly CITES has been extremely well served by our Secretary-General John Scanlon. Under his leadership CITES has moved into being a well acknowledged partner for many agencies and CITES initiatives have become well placed on the global agenda. Secondly at PC22 we were informed that the Plants Committee chair Margarita Clemente would be standing down from her position as Chair of the PC. She has had this position since 1996! Her efforts for CITES both as chair of the PC, as well as her outstanding work at the International University of Andalucía, with the establishment and running of the Master Course on 'Management and Conservation of Species in Trade: the International Framework', is nothing short of remarkable and deserves our highest recognition. It is not possible to mention all those who have contributed here, but I must mention one last group of persons. These are the chairs of the many working groups of the Standing Committee. Many of whom have taken on huge burdens of work and often to the Standing Committee's surprise managed to conclude them. The family of CITES thank you all for your efforts!

16. The Conference of the Parties is invited to take note the present document.

COMMENTS FROM THE SECRETARIAT

- A. In the light of the report in the present document, the Secretariat recommends that the Conference of the Parties agrees to delete Decision 14.29 (Rev. CoP16) and Decision 16.62.
- B. The Secretariat further recommends that the proposal to amend Resolution Conf. 12.3 (Rev. CoP16) on Permits and certificates contained in paragraph 12 above be considered by Committee II at the present meeting.
